

The Fight is On!

MR. JUSTICE EWING'S judgment declaring the Alberta legislature cannot protect the people of this province from the collection of exorbitant and confiscatory interest rates may or may not be good law. One thing is certain however, and that is that the people cannot and will not submit to such indefensible rates.

The Liberal party of Alberta under the vigorous leadership of Mr. W. R. Howson, K.C. (now Mr. Justice Howson), campaigned for three years previous to the general election on a platform of drastic debt reduction (not postponement) and low interest rates.

The Liberal party polled 70,000 votes. Mr. Aberhart advocating Social Credit polled 163,000 votes. The U.F.A., C.C.P., adhered to a "Sound Money" policy and gathered in 30,000 votes with the Conservative party. Labor and Communists away in the rear. Mr. Aberhart elected 56 members, Liberals 5 and the Conservatives one each in Edmonton and Calgary owing to Proportional voting in these two cities.

The overwhelming verdict was for an immediate, drastic cutting of public and private debts to a payable basis and a demand that interest rates be less than half the rates charged.

Assuming Mr. Justice Ewing is right and that the legislature cannot protect the people against the heavy, unjust toll of usury now levied, the legislature can however, cut the principal of public and private debts 50 to 75 per cent and no lawyer has denied publicly this would not be legal and within the constitutional powers of a legislature to enact into law.

The next move to give immediate and unquestioned lawful relief would be to declare a province wide moratorium covering the payment of interest and principal on all public and private debts for one year.

This would give the Government ample time to appeal Mr. Justice Ewing's judgment and if unsuccessful proclaim the new act cutting principal 50 to 75 per cent on all public and private debts. A year from now the legislature could, if necessary, extend the moratorium for another year.

The main line to keep in mind is that only a knock down, drag out finished fight will ever win results from the unscrupulous, "Special Privileged" who have maintained a vicious, dishonest "Sound Money" policy in Canada—a policy that has brought ruin to millions of Canadians and huge, unearned profits to the "Special Privileged" few.

It is to be expected Premier Aberhart will give a decided and emphatic NO to the request of Edmonton City Council for approval of the scandalous Fortin scheme. The six aldermen who voted for it, without such as a sham battle, need have no delusions as to what the voters think of them in their refusal to even allow the ratemakers to vote on the Fortin scheme.

TEMPORARY MORATORIUM BE DECLARED

Temporary Action Planned By Government To Prevent Rush Of Mortgage Foreclosures Closes Throughout Province

Temporary moratorium will be declared in the immediate future, probably on Tuesday, by the provincial government to prevent a rush of mortgage foreclosures throughout the province as a result of the judgment of Mr. Justice F. Ewing, declaring ultra vires the Debt Reduction and Settlement Act of the province.

This was reported on reliable authority on Monday following statements that since Friday last when Mr. Justice Ewing's judgment was rendered, there has been a rash of mortgage foreclosures.

The government will declare its moratorium in order to bring about a stay of proceedings for such time as it has an opportunity to study what should be done as a permanent cure for the economic ills under which the people are laboring.

THREE-MONTH PERIOD

As a starter, the government is likely to declare a moratorium for three months and can extend it if necessary and deemed advisable.

The government had power to invoke a moratorium on the whole or any part of the province, under a provision of the Debt Adjustment Act, a consolidation of legislation passed at the special legislative session last August.

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—The textile tariff will return to the pre-Bennett status when Hon. Charles Dunning brings down his budget on Thursday. The concessions made to the industry by Mr. Bennett to tide it over the depression were flagrantly exploited and the industry will be dealt with accordingly.

Mary Takes Young Mexico To Her Heart

Hollywood received with surprise the report of the wedding of seven star Mary Astor to Manuel del Campo, Mexican insurance salesman who went to the movie colony with aspirations to be an actor. Although the couple had been seen together frequently, no intimation of their impending marriage had been given. They were wed at Yuma, Ariz., and the groom left immediately for Mexico City, where his father had just died. The happy couple are pictured here as they attended a Los Angeles function together recently.

PICTURE WILL BE BROUGHT DOWN THE RIVER

BRIGHTER PICTURE THAN LAST YEAR IS ANTICIPATED

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—The budget will be brought down Thursday in the house of commons. Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of finance, will present a statement of Canada's financial position for the fiscal year ending March 31 and will make public what changes in the government proposes in tariffs and taxation.

Feb. 23 is one of the earliest dates on record for presentation of the budget. So early is this that Mr. Dunning will have to estimate receipts and expenditure as well as trade figures for February and March.

BRIGHTER PICTURE
Mr. Dunning is expected to have a brighter picture to present to the country this year in view of improved business and expanding revenue. Last year the government's $372,100,000 total revenue for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1936. This year, with two months still to go, revenues have already exceeded that amount, reaching a total of $373,338,000.

In his budget speech last May 1935 the finance minister predicted that this fiscal year of less than $380,000,000. In view of the fact that the government has already exceeded that figure, it is estimated that the government will make good his promise. Last year's deficit was $12,191,000.

The early part of the year will be devoted largely to consideration of the amendment. Deficit Friday night of the amendment. George MacNeil (C.C.F., Vancouver North) to the motion to go into the bill, the overwhelming vote of 181 to 15 was given by a start by the estimates and they may be considered.

CRITICISMS LOOMS
Although criticisms put up to speakers in the defense debate, Mr. MacNeil's motion against the amendment, it is understood they will have much effect to offer when the defense estimates are before the house.

Mr. Dunning, who was leading the house at adjournment Friday night indicated some of the government legislation might also be with today.

Accordingly third reading will probably be given the bill to extend the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act. A resolution stands on the order of the preliminary motion to negative the old clause in the bill.

Another bill providing for the Old Age Pension Act is given bill persons at the House of Commons will be active again this week. The Senate railways bill will continue study of a bill to transform the Board of Commissioners into the transport commission, with authority over air and inland water traffic as well as railways.

Among important committees that are considering the bill to revise the capital structure of the Canadian National railways.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Big, two-faced Sam Ruffalo, who came to the United States as a penniless immigrant boy and now is perhaps the world's largest subway contractor, was shot to death in a New York City apartment house last Saturday night by Robert MacPherson, who afterwards killed himself.

GRAND JURY
"If they get a court or a grand jury session and want to talk to Mr. Ruffalo I shall advise him to go," said Goldstein, "otherwise no. There's nothing in the law that says a man has to go into another state to have a chat with someone."

Ruffalo, formally arrested Saturday, was held in custody for a period of 24 hours, after which he was released on a $5,000 bond.

SHOT TO DEATH
Goldstein said he expected to move shortly for the release of Max Friedman, a Ruffalo employee who was arrested last night in New Jersey Saturday night as a material witness.

Ruffalo was shot to death at his home in Teaneck, N.J., Friday night. The man went up and they shot him in the hall.

His union walked off work on the Ruffalo project. "We're not going to work on a job that's so dangerous," said a spokesman for the union.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF
ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By PAUL HARRISON

Almost every news actor in Hollywood is so busy that he cannot be bothered with the minutiae of his own life. But William Powell finds only one thing more interesting than his own life: the life of his fellow actors.

Now it is a fact, well known to everyone in the industry, that William Powell is a fellow who would not recognize a clue if it were to walk up and twerk his petticoat.

Also, his faculty for recognizing names and faces is surpassed only by that of Douglas Fairbanks.

This is no particular reflection upon Mr. Powell, who just doesn't happen to have the shrewdness of mind. He has not played many detective roles, either, but he usually manages to be some sort of suave and affable wile.

And even since he was Detective Nick Charles in "The Thin Man," he has been getting letters from fans who want him to help with their mysteries and problems.

At last June, and we haven't heard from him since.

Some people want him to approach the police, and others want him to approach the police.

"If I ever got mixed up in an actual case," admitted Powell, "I probably would go by the book."

These letters are not just accidents that happen to him. Edmund Love and Warren William are not just accidents that happen to him.

SETTINGS ARE BEAUTIFUL RIALTO FILM

"Trapped in the Alps" Is an Exciting Crime Story

At the Rialto today a fine program is headed by "Trapped in the Alps," a really thrilling and exciting crime story adapted from the successful London production. Anthony Russell, Jane Baxter and Ronald Squire head a fine cast and an outstanding performance is given by Margaret Rutherford, a well-known stage artist, who is a comparative newcomer to the screen, in the role of a wily old woman, crook, member of a gang of fingers.

You will not only enjoy the thrilling story of "Trapped in the Alps," but delight in the unusual and exciting settings. Most of the action takes place in the Austrian Tyrol and it is a beautiful picture.

The story tells of a man who is innocent but is the link between two worlds. The picture is a magnificent production with a fine cast and a fine story.

GOVERNMENT COULD THEN JOURNEY BY BOAT AND PLANE TO FAR NORTH POSTS

His Excellency, Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor General of Canada, has announced the idea of the northward. He will come to Edmonton, Alberta, in July, leaving by steamer from Fort McMurray to Akavik, and then by air to a series of the mining islands, planned by Canada's most famous alpinist.

This information was received Monday morning from James A. MacKinnon, M.P. for West Edmonton, who had it direct from the governor-general.

APPETITE WHETTED
 In the course of conversation with Mr. MacKinnon last week, His Excellency admitted that his brief taste of life in the northwest had whetted his appetite for more. He took his trip to the north as a pilot of the Stinson, Mackenzie Air Service, with the last summer and that he was prepared to return for a more lengthy trip.

Tweedsmuir's unofficial itinerary calls for him to arrive at the Stinson Stampede early in July. Immediately after that he intends to visit Red Deer, Drumheller and various towns on the Rocky Mountain House trail.

He will stay several days in Edmonton, leaving for Fort McMurray on Sunday, July 21. On reaching Edmonton, His Excellency will fly to Hershell on Monday, July 22, and then to Hershell on Tuesday, July 23.

It is expected that the official party will fly from here to Burn Lake, B.C., and then visit the Caribou country, famed in western Canadian lore. There they will travel to Vancouver.

Police Court

"I just had to defend myself," explained Nick Dobich, husky young Edmonton youth, when asked by Magistrate J. C. H. Brown, sitting on the bench Monday how he came to be appearing in court. He was charged on Jasper avenue east shortly after midnight with being drunk.

Constable Harry Nelson told the court that he noticed a crowd of about 200 persons gathered on the street watching the fight. When called to the other fighter, but young Dobich was all right. He was charged with the magistrate found the youth guilty of creating a disturbance, and fined $10 and costs.

Joseph Logan, who pleaded guilty to assaulting his wife, was sentenced to 30 days in the house of correction. He was charged with "Are you steadily employed?" asked the magistrate. "No," replied the accused.

"Then this will interfere with your job," said the magistrate.

JUDGE HOWSON WILL RESUME DUTIES MARCH 1

Members of the legal profession and of the Alberta judiciary expressed pleasure Monday morning when it was learned that Mr. Justice W. R. Howson, who has been seriously ill for several months, will be sufficiently recovered to resume duties on the Alberta bench on March 1.

It is expected that Mr. Justice Howson will take supreme court chambers at Calgary next week, and at Edmonton the week following. His duties will be attended by his office in the court house here during this week.

Mr. Justice Howson, who was made at the Calgary sitting, will be in the court house during the week following. He will be in the court house during the week following.

CLERIC SCORES S.C. THREATS OF REPRISALS

Not in the British Tradition Rev. H. A. MacLeod Declares in Sermon

Threats by members of the Social Credit government to use force to enforce their will on the administration will be met with reprisals, Rev. H. A. MacLeod, minister of St. John's Anglican church, in a Sunday sermon, "Co-operate or get out."

"We are not to co-operate with the Social Credit government," he said. "We are to co-operate with the law. We are to co-operate with the law. We are to co-operate with the law."

NOT BRITISH
 "But we are told on general principles that we are to fall in line or we are to be beaten. Such expressions are not heard from members of parliament in Westminster. That is the British tradition."

Rev. James and Mr. MacLeod find a good deal in common with the Social Credit government. "Where the Social Credit government is at stake no consideration of justice or of justice, of mercy or of equity, of honor or of dishonor can find a place. And those in authority must define precisely what the safety of the country is. These gentlemen will have to do this. We agree with them."

He Committed Mayhem

Chief Pilot Battles Gale To Bring Suffering Woman To Aid

Riding on the wings of a 45-mile-an-hour sub-Arctic gale, Chief Pilot Farrell, Canadian Air Force, was chief pilot for the Mackenzie Air Service, which was flying to Akavik, 100 miles north of Fort Norman, when he flew a trapper's wife, critically ill, from Frank Lake, 100 miles north of Fort Norman, to hospital at Fort Simpson. It was declared today.

Returning to the city Saturday, after a round trip to Akavik, Pilot Farrell related brief details of the flight.

Southbound from Akavik, Farrell landed in Fort Norman, Tuesday afternoon, just as darkness was hinting out the short daylight. The same afternoon, Frank Rivett, a trapper, had arrived after an hour from his cabin at Frank Lake, north of the Bear river, to obtain aid for his wife.

ACUTELY ILL
 Mrs. Rivett, a middle-aged woman, was critically ill in the lonely cabin, acute septicemia and peritonitis having set in after an illness of several days.

Shortly to become a mother, she was suffering from a severe cold, a load of firewood. One of the pilots had landed on the ground and the other was waiting on the air. The pilot, who was waiting on the air, was waiting on the air.

The trapper could not find a shelter in the carriage for Fort Norman as a pilot would have been late to the post on the same day as Rivett. Farrell brought Pilot Farrell to the post on the same day as Rivett. Farrell brought Pilot Farrell to the post on the same day as Rivett.

Looking Them Over

Jumpers Coming

THIS is the first year that skiing has really boomed into a major winter sport in Edmonton, but the jumping and cross-country racing which featured the weekend gave ample proof that within a very short time this city will have two or three scores of ski men who can hold their own with the best in Canada. Lack of snow held skiing back this season until well into January, but it is all built now. The river valley was filled with fast men and women, on Saturday afternoon and Sunday for a distance of some six miles or more.

In its new jump, the Edmonton Ski Club has a structure that is going to give the city scores of fine jumpers in the next few years. This jump is exceptionally safe, and yet it gave distances up to 130 feet with the same old ski men who can hold their own with the best in Canada. Lack of snow held skiing back this season until well into January, but it is all built now. The river valley was filled with fast men and women, on Saturday afternoon and Sunday for a distance of some six miles or more.

The stop watch showed that the jumpers were travelling at an average speed of around 40 miles an hour when they left the take-off. Next year the club plans to add another 10 to 15 feet to the tower which should speed the take-off speed up to over 50 miles an hour at fast snow and bring big jumps of well over 140 feet. When it is remembered that 130 feet was the world's record until a few years ago, you get a better appreciation of what was done here Saturday.

Leheim Aristocrat Of Ski

MAGNE LEHEIM, of the Edmonton Ski Club, who turned in spectacular jumps on Saturday and won the cross-country race on Sunday, is a skier whose record is regarded with awe in any company. In 1958 he won the King's Cup for the combined cross-country and jumping event in Norway. This is the blue-ribbon event for an all-around skier. To win it he has to beat hundreds of the best skiers in Norway, and he produces plenty. The cross-country race is an 18 kilometre affair, while the jumps are judged on form and distance. In racing, it is Leheim's exceptionally powerful form that keeps him skimming along at a tremendous breaking pace as each push of his poles fairly shoots him ahead. He is a woman and long winter days with snow have given him a pair of herculean arms.

In the jumping event, the reason for the style adopted by the winners was a puzzle to many new ski fans. When coming down the slide, everything is done to attain speed and the jumper crouches low to cut down wind resistance and be ready for his spring at the take-off. Once in the air, he seeks to stay there as long as possible in order to get greater distance. This is why the body is bent forward sharply at the hip—catching the air and acting as a parachute. It also gives better balance on landing.

Edmonton Sport Moves Outdoors

IF YOU have been an Edmontonian for the past ten or fifteen years, you have only to think back that far to realize that Edmonton is becoming a city of outdoor men and women at a seasonal rate. It is a sport development of major proportions. A decade ago you could not find a dozen canoes here on the river. Last summer you could see that many almost any day on a mile stretch of the river. This season will bring scores more. Skiers are out by the hundreds daily now where there were only a few a few years ago, while tobogganing is now catching on by leaps and bounds. In addition to canoes in the summer, hundreds upon hundreds of hiking people find every comfortable rock along the river from Great Ravine for miles.

In the Saskatchewan valley, particularly from the High Level bridge westward, Edmonton has a priceless outdoor playground. So far the city has wisely kept it free from the disgusting clutter and dirt that rate most river valleys now cities. Within little more than a stone throw from pavement and street cars, the Saskatchewan offers an unspoiled piece of wilderness that millions of dollars could not replace if it were ever destroyed.

Bears forced play and kept it in the Husky territory most of the period. Stark, Talbot and Zender, on the Varsity defense, proved to be a combination that baffled the Husky forwards.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 22.—Philip Reilly, assistant district attorney, announced today Alexander Meyer, charged with murder in the death of 16-year-old Helen Meyer, had signed a statement that he deliberately ran down the girl with his truck and later attacked her. Meyer, a 29-year-old farmer, had been quoted that he killed the girl accidentally.

COATESVILLE, Pa., Feb. 22.—The nude body of Helen Meyer was found in a well on the farm of Alexander Meyer Saturday, several hours after police said he told them he accidentally ran down and killed the high school girl with his truck nine days ago and hid her in the water.

The girl disappeared Feb. 11 while walking from the Coatesville high school to her home, Medina, three miles to the south. Her last shoes and school books were found on the highway.

An investigation centered on a report that a green truck had been seen on the highway the afternoon she disappeared led to the arrest of Meyer. He led county and state police to the well on the farm at Corns near Downingtown, six miles east of Coatesville.

Fifty Microphones in Abbey Will Take Message

To Ends Of Earth

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Not merely the Empire but the world will listen to the Coronation ceremonies May 12 inside and outside Westminster Abbey.

By TELEVISION The Earl Marshal is considering the feasibility of setting up television machinery in the Abbey for the actual crowning. In any event, Sir Stephen Tallents of the British Broadcasting Commission hopes and expects the outside procession will be caught on the wireless screen in their full panoply.

King George VI will likely conclude the momentous day with a personal message to his subjects. This will probably be delivered at 8:30 p.m. G.M.T. (one p.m. M.S.T.).

Twenty microphones will be established in the Abbey itself so very suitable detail of the service will be caught. Along the route microphones will be placed at strategic points and trained observers will describe the passing scene.

THREE HOUSE BROADCAST The coronation day broadcast will probably start about 10:15 a.m. G.M.T. (the procession begins at 11 a.m. G.M.T.). The broadcast is estimated on the basis of present plans, but the procession begins from Buckingham Palace to the Abbey. And the Abbey broadcast is likely to last from 11:15 a.m. until 2:15 p.m.

Immediately following the service there may be a break until the return procession begins at about three p.m., but this lapse is not definitely settled yet. The return procession will be covered with even greater thoroughness, the scenes at Trafalgar Square, St. James' Palace and Oxford Circus will be given special attention.

The evening's schedule includes a program at 8:30 p.m. entitled "The Empire's Message," which will link up as many parts of the empire as possible and which will be featured by individual messages of loyalty from each dominion and colony. This will conclude with a greeting from the United Kingdom spokesman, perhaps Prime Minister Baldwin. And then His Majesty will probably appear.

There will be other special coronation features. They will include a religious service on May 9 in which heads of the various churches will participate.

SUNDAY TALK

The Archbishop of Canterbury will give an address and a special anthem written by Sir Wilfrid Davies, master of the King's Music, will be sung. Sunday will also bring a talk on the religious significance of the coronation and an appropriate children's service. Other dramatic features include the King's anointing, based on the coronation of King David, and the coronation of the King's Music, the coronation of music, prose and verse about by King's Speech of King David, a "coronation chorale" because of the music's coronation throughout the country; a program by Sir James Barrie for the first time has been authorized a broadcast and an all-star performance of "Mousetrap" Night's Dream.

Your Slip's

Showing! . . .

Something new under the sun . . . under your new frocks. A slip cut so that it just won't ride around. How come? Well the silk crepe for the front is cut on the opposite bias to the crepe for the back. Clever, eh? The top of the garment is doubled in the crepe, too. Oh, very tailored, Miss Modern . . . the sort of slip you just adore for daytime. Just ask for the "Wonderfil" it's rightly named. And less than two dollars for this marvel of slender lines, too.

More Raving Over
Flowers . . .

Yes, we'll admit it. Our enthusiasms over the new nosegays are more than just our ordinary blarney about new smart arrivals. Those long-stemmed pique daisies in green, yellow, red, brown and black, 36 inches wide, SPECIAL, 15c.

It's the Marmalade

Time . . .

If you were brought up in the Old Country you'll agree with us that February is the time to be making of your marmalade. And this year more than ever you'll want to be chopping up your citrons in good measure. For it's no idle jest that the price of these tangy fruits is on the up and up. Due to the frosts in the California fruit country, you know. But the fact that oranges and lemons are going to be higher won't be any argument when the family starts calling for the fruit of the marmalade. We humbly submit that a spot of bitter-sweet marmalade properly applied to a spot of brownish toast, has a lot to do with starting the day right.

When is a

Bargain? . . .

That's the question that one of your leading style magazines asks. A pithy article it is, too, dealing with this matter of security in shopping. One thing that the writer didn't consider, though, I humbly hasten to mention. It's a lot to depend on the shop in which you're looking for a bargain. Doesn't it depend on the reliability of the advertising of the institution that invites you to Every EATON ad means what it says and says what it means. Behold, then, that statement is the good old money-back guarantee. Your money refunded on ANYTHING you buy . . . and no quibbling. All of which adds up to the fact that a Bargain at the Store IS a Bargain, and no fooling.
